This is the start of an attempt to record the early Pennsylvania German graveyards for posterity, especially for the use of present and future genealogists, since tombstone inscriptions are not, as many people think, indestructible.

Every year, more and more graveyards are being destroyed to make room for super highways, shopping centers, gas stations, etc. Or just abandoned for the lack of some one to maintain them. Even when a cemetery is preserved and given the best of care, the inscriptions gradually erode away and eventually become illegible.

Many of the inscriptions listed herein can no longer be read, were some one to visit the cemeteries today. Some of these lists were made by my Mother, Alice F. Stroh (now aged 99), during her younger days, others are from old recordings made 75 or more years ago.

It is my intent, if possible, to publish additional booklets in this same format, as time and materials permit. This will make it possible for purchasers to combine future issues with this one to build up a larger volume. Maybe, with success, to eventually include all the Pennsylvania German graveyards.

I am in hopes that other members, and non members, of the Palatines to America will aid in this project by picking a Pennsylvania German cemetery and recording all the tombstones in it, or helping to complete one that is already started.

In the preperation of this brochure, I wish to thank Ms Mary Stahle, of the Pennsylvania Chapter, for typeing this whole list of inscriptions.

The following tombstone inscriptions are from the Bern Church Cemetery located along Highway Route 183 about 10 miles north of the town of Reading in eastern Pennsylvania. The church is a German Reformed that was originally constructed of logs in or around 1748. A stone church was erected around 1770, which was in turn replaced by the present brick church built in 1837.

Primarily of German immigrants and their children who were born prior to 1800, these inscriptions were recorded around 1900 and are, for the most part, illegible today. The original spelling has been retained. The following abbreviations are used: b.-born, d.-died, w.-wife, h.-husband, s.-son, d.-daughter, c.-children, m.-married.

The following tombstone inscriptions are from the graveyard at Little Tulpehocken Church (no longer standing), located about 1½ miles west of Bernville, Berks County, Pennsylvania, and were copied around 1900 by Prof. M. A. Gruber, who also translated the German inscriptions into English. A recent visit to this graveyard shows that even if one can decipher the Old German lettering, more than half the inscriptions on these old sandstone markers are no longer legible.

MOONSHINE CHURCH CEMETERY

This cemetery is located in Union Township, Lebanon County, Pennsylvania, north of the Military Reservation at Fort Indiantown Gap. Mr. Moonshine, who donated the ground, and his wife are buried here. The very poor were given their burial plots. Many years ago a Lutheran Church was built on the opposite side of the road.

STROHS CEMETERY

This family graveyard is located south of Route 443 almost 3 miles east of the Susquehanna River in Fishing Creek Valley, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania. It was started as a family graveyard years before the first church was built in the valley. Friends and neighbors were given burial lots at little or no cost and the cemetery is now almost completely filled. Like many other rural cemeteries, many graves never had an engraved tombstone, instead they were marked by ordinary field stones which have since disappeared.
